

USER AUTHENTICATION THROUGH SEPARATE COMMUNICATION LINKS

Abstract of the Invention

A device may be authenticated via a first physical communication link. The Authentication—authentication from a—the first independently authenticable communication link may be “transferred” to a second unauthenticable communication link and thereby used for authentication in the—a physical second communication link_a second communication link may not otherwise be independently authenticable.